Good evening,

I have no other way to communicate with you than to send you this mail. I am in despair and my heart bleeds as I give you this message which I hope will hold your attention.

I contact you today because it is true that we do not know this does not prevent this gesture on my part. My name is Mr FAURE JOSEPH born on 10 JULY 1939 in France and living in Côte d'Ivoire, but for some reason I had to be an adventurer looking for something. The reason that leads me to you is this: I would like to go through your channel to do a charity work in your department.

It is a donation of some kind and it amounts to 970,000 euros. My marital status is such that I have no wife and even fewer children to whom I could bequeath this legacy, and I currently suffer from throat cancer so I am doomed to certain death.

That is why, I would graciously and in the concern of helping destitute children give you this said inheritance to carry out this work of charity.

If you agree to do what I asked you to let me know.

I ask you to listen carefully to my proposal because I count on your good will and also the good use of these funds for this work.

thanks for your understanding

Mr JOSEPH
